About the Appalachian Center for Economic Networks (ACEnet)

ACEnet is a non-profit economic development and business support organization. In 1991, ACEnet established a small business incubator that offers shared services.

ACEnet's Business Incubation Services include office, kitchen, and light manufacturing space at below-market rates and includes shared equipment or services that businesses would otherwise be unable to afford on their own

The ACEnet Ventures Fund offers financial assistance to small businesses to create quality jobs for low-income residents in specifically targeted areas of Appalachia.

Art of Ohio.com is based on the same premise of shared services. The website is maintained by ACEnet and regional marketing is provided. Art of Ohio.com provides entrepreneur orientation and trainings as well. Art of Ohio.com asks a 30% commission on all items sold online. All artists are required to show the Art of Ohio.com logo on their printed materials, and link to the Art of Ohio.com website.
